Lent challenge to live on £15-a-week meal budget

By CHARLOTTE BRADSHAW

Teachers are being challenged to adopt a credit crunch-busting £15-a-week food budget during Lent for charity.

Education experts in the Blackburn Diocese will try to live on the same weekly amount given to asylum seekers for living expenses.

The £30 difference between the £15 spent and the average UK weekly food bill of £45 will be donated to the Asylum Seekers project at Blackburn Cathedral.

All Lancashire church schools are being invited to take part in the fund-raiser, with pupils encouraged to become involved in raising the £30 for the Cathedral project.

The scheme will be launched on Ash Wednesday, February 25, when a Lay Canon at the Cathedral will exchange her usual food bill for a daily allowance of just more than £2 a day.

Lisa Fenton, diocesan senior adviser to schools, said: "This Lenten project is probably the biggest challenge we have undertaken so far. Throughout Lent our education officers will be taking turns to live on £15 a week – the amount of money given to asylum seekers for living expenses."

Canon Daphne Durham, deputy director of education, who will launch the scheme, said: "I feel the reality of living on £15 will be a challenge that will make me budget carefully and not accept being wasteful, and remind me that I am very fortunate and should be more active in supporting anyone less fortunate than myself."

Special Lent initiatives are becoming a regular feature of the Board of Education in the Blackburn Diocese. Last year Board members became known nationally for imposing an e-mail ban during Lent, in favour of other forms of communication.

John East, asylum and refugee support worker with the Church of England and the Methodist Church in Blackburn, welcomed the "wonderful gesture" from the Anglican Board of Education.

Vicar rev-ved up for punk musical

By DAVID WATKINSON

A "rocking" reverend is taking his passion for punk music to the stage in a show he hopes will rival Mamma Mia and We Will Rock You.

Philip Chew, a former vicar of Stephen's CE Church, Burnley, and his rock band Revisit are to perform their show at the Thwaites Empire Theatre, Blackburn, on Friday, March 6.

The Rocking Reverend and the Plastic Punks see 1970s and 1980s classics from the Sex Pistols, The Clash, The Jam and The Buzzcocks performed alongside monologues of the cultural and political backdrop of the time.

The Rev Chew said: "Punks get a bit of a bad image, but there were some real classics that were important in illustrating what was going on in the country.

"The stage show is something that is a bit different, but hopefully it will be popular.

"Maybe we could even see the sort of popularity Abba and Queen musicals have had."

Lead singer Mr Chew, bassist Mark Hurlbut, from Accrington, drummer John Mayor, from Darwen, and lead guitarist Graham Chapel, from Langho, formed the band Revisit two years ago.

The band, who are all in their 40s, have had some success, having played at Blackpool Tower and releasing a single 'We're Under Attack'.

Mr Chew, who is now vicar at St Aidan's in Mill Hill and St Francis' in Feniscliffe, Blackburn, said: "I think that it is a misconception that a vicar should just spend time in church.

"In Christianity a priest is supposed to be out in the world and that's what I am doing," he added.

15,000 empty homes 'a waste'

By TOM MOSELEY

Almost 15,000 homes are lying empty across East Lancashire, it has been revealed.

At the same time, thousands of families are on waiting lists for social housing, according to the Conservative Party.

Council bosses insist they are doing all they can to reduce the number of empty properties.

But the Tories, who have unveiled their own strategy for tackling the problem, have branded it "a waste of much-needed potential housing".

According to the figures, there are 3,217 empty homes in Blackburn with Darwen, 2,686 in Burnley, and 1,407 in Chorley.

Hyndburn has 2,041, Ribble Valley 819, Pendle 2,757, and Rossendale 1,606.

Burnley	2,686
Chorley	1,407
Hyndburn	2,041
Ribble Valley	819
Pendle	2,757
Rossendale	1,606

Shadow housing minister Grant Shapps claimed the number of households on social housing waiting lists in Lancashire had increased from 17,527 to 23,012 in the past 10 years.

He said: "This waste of much-needed potential housing is yet another example of this Government's failure to help Britain's hard-working families in Brown's recession."

Blackburn with Darwen Council's housing chief Sayeed Osman said the waiting list figure was more complicated than it appeared, and did not mean the people on the list were homeless.

He said improvements made to social housing in the borough had made it a more desirable option than private renting for many people.

However, Coun Julie Cooper, leader of the opposition Labour Group on Burnley Council, said more "joined-up thinking" was needed on the authority's empty homes strategy.

She said: "If you drive around certain areas of the borough with a lot of empty homes, such as Burnley Wood, they are a right mess.

"We have got to be organised and we cannot tackle the problem haphazardly.

"There is no point in buying up and facelifting one house and leaving the rest of the street as it is."

Some councils in East Lancashire, including Blackburn with Darwen and Burnley, have adopted empty property strategies to track down landlords and encourage them to bring houses back into use.

Blues festival 'rescue' moves

By PETE MAGILL

A rescue deal has been formulated which could save the future of Colne's blues festival and services at leisure centres – but councillors have been warned they cannot keep dipping into their savings.

Councillors from the ruling Liberal Democrat group have proposed a £233,000 one-off grant for Pendle Leisure Trust, which will be offset by a five per cent rise in leisure centre fees.

The £30,000 cost of Colne's blues festival and temporary closures of Pendle's leisure centres were suggested by the leisure trust as probable solutions.

Politicans will also be asked to agree a £351,000 savings package, and using £1.3million from reserves to support capital and revenue spending this year.

But the head of town hall finances has warned that the authority cannot rely on funds from its financial reserves to fund revenue costs.

Dean Langton, the council's chief finance officer, said that the £1.25m left in the council's working balances was adequate to meet immediate pressures.

But he added in a report to the council: "In relation to other financial reserves, a review has also been conducted to determine their adequacy.

"The review concluded that the level of such reserves is adequate based on current information, existing commitments and known future plans.

"However, the extent to which reserves are being used to support the General Fund Revenue Budget is not sustainable without a need to align expenditure more closely with ongoing resources."

The total level of reserves for this March is estimated at £10million and that is predicted to fall to £9million by 2010.

Elsewhere the council has reduced its budget for removing bulky household waste by £32,000, and the council will pay £17,500 less to replace wheelie bins in 2009-10.

Councillors meet tonight (Thursday) at Nelson Town Hall to debate the budget.

Road repairs

Council chiefs will spend £40,000 resurfacing Deer Park Road, in the Brunshaw area of Burnley, as long as councillors approve the scheme. The money comes from a budget previously earmarked for replacement CCTV cameras, which have been deferred for a year.

New college takes shape

The steel frame of the new Unity College building, in Burnley, is taking shape.

The college is scheduled for completion by September 2010.

It will have the capacity for 1,050 students, aged 11 to 16, and will be built on Unity's current playing fields.

Unity College opened in the former Towneley High School building in September 2006.

It is one of seven secondary schools created under Lancashire County Council's Building Schools for the Future project.

FUNDING: Tories claim the ice rink, above, was an "expensive folly"

Ice rink under threat

By PETE MAGILL

Doubts have been raised about the future funding of Burnley's festive town centre ice rink and community festival as the credit crunch bites the borough.

Opposition councillors say the ice rink, in particular, staged in St James' Street last December, was an "expensive folly" as Burnley Council faces financial difficulties and a proposed 4.9per cent council tax increase.

And the merits of Burnley Community Festival, staged every August in Queen's Park, have also been queried. Tory councillor Jonathan Gilbert said: "The funding for the ice rink was over £10,000 of taxpayers' money, which is not a modest amount.

"My understanding is that although we talked to various partners, no-one was prepared to put their hands in their pockets and sponsor this, and the takings were poor. The question is, in the current economic climate, whether we want to be spending this kind of money again this year?

"Surely there must be more important things we can be funding, at the moment, rather than this sort of expensive folly?"

Coun Gilbert also questioned financial support for the town's community festival, which has been pencilled in for August 23 this year and is backed by the voluntary sector, Neighbourhood Renewal Fund and Veka.

He said, in his view, the 2008 event had been poorly attended.

Coun Roger Frost, planning cabinet member, said: "The idea is to cut funding for the ice rink and it will depend on the terms we get from the suppliers of the equipment."

Coun Frost told a full council meeting that talks with a principal sponsor were at an advanced stage.

Commenting on the community festival, Coun Martin Smith, leisure cabinet member, said that around 3,500 people had attended this year and it was "well-supported by the people of Burnley".

with the most energy efficient double glazed windows available on the market!

The government has introduced the Window Energy Ratings scheme. By using the same ratings system that items such as fridges and washing machines have been using for years, it is now possible to rate a window from any given installer. The finished window combination is independently tested, and awarded a rating from A to G.

Those offering a C-rating or above have achieved the recommended threshold for energy saving as quoted by the Energy Saving Trust.

So, if C-rated is energy efficient, how much better does an A-rated window perform?

Well, its simple really.

An A-rated window will not lose any heat whatsoever from your home. None. Zero. It's a little more complex than that, but the principle really is true.

Why heights are not plain sailing

If you had to be stuck in a lift with someone, who would it be?
James Hunt. I liked his character. He was supremely gifted as a racing driver, but didn't take himself too seriously. I'm sure he's got 101 tales which he would only want to tell in a lift.

What is your biggest fear?
Probably heights, which is amusing considering I fly myself.

Do you have any superstitions?
No. I'm a complete atheist. I don't believe in anything other than my family and my friends.

If you could only have one song on your iPod, what would it be?
Billy Joel. Something from the album Piano Man.

What's the most expensive item you've ever bought, not including property or cars?
An aircraft; a Piper Malibu Mirage. The trip I did regularly, because I used to live down in Monaco, you could do Oxford to Cannes in two hours 50 minutes.

What's the best piece of advice you've ever been given?
Don't give up.

When was the last time you cried and why?
At the birth of my daughter Alena.

FIVE MINUTES WITH ... Jason Plato

What's your indulgence?
Red wine.

What were you doing this time yesterday?
Playing with my daughter.

Racing driver and presenter Jason Plato was born in 1968 in Oxford, and currently lives in Eynsham, Oxfordshire, with his wife Sophie and their young daughter, Alena. He is one of the presenters on Fifth Gear, which can be seen on Monday nights on Five.

Laugh until you cry

GEORDIE Jason Cook has set himself the ultimate comedian's challenge – to perform a show without embellishment. A show that's 100per cent true. See the results when he takes to the stage at King George's Hall, Blackburn. CAROLINE DUTTON found out more...

DON'T forget your tissues when you go to see comedian Jason Cook's show Joy, because apparently it's a tear-jerker.

One reviewer wrote: "It's rare to be touched, to the very core, by a comedy performance... there were tears welling up in many punters' eyes, and for good reason."

In the show, 35-year-old Jason talks about true stories from his life, the ups and downs he's experienced, and what he has learnt from them.

"I'm not sure if that's a good advert for your show, having your audience leaving with mascara running down their faces, but I'd be crying with them and it was the most magical feeling in the world.

TRUE STORIES: Comedian Jason Cook

"You know that they are feeling what you are feeling and it's rare to get that kind of connection with your audience," he said.

"Apparently what people are feeling is pathos. I never really understood what that meant!

"I talk about happy and sad things that have happened in my life. I talk a bit about my dad not being very well. I talk about life and death... all the fun stuff."

Jason started out in much the same way as any other comedian, but when his father suffered a stroke, it changed him and his performance.

After his first show My Confessions took Edinburgh Fringe Festival by storm, earning five-star reviews, Cook set himself the challenge of writing a show without embellishment, exaggeration, or poetic licence.

"I started talking about my dad being ill on stage and I found people really liked it," he said.

"People are more interested in true stories than embellishment, they're more real. It's nicer stuff to do as well. At first it was a bit odd to stand on stage and release all this information about yourself, but I'm used to it now. It feels good."

PASTORAL LEARNING COACH
GRADE 3 £17,781 - £20,100
(term time only plus three weeks)

We are looking for an enthusiastic and commited person to join our small but effective Pastoral Learning Coach team.

As a Pastoral Learning Coach you will be required to work with identified students, to remove barriers to learning and, therefore, help raise student achievement and attainment levels through group work and 1:1 mentoring sessions.

The successful candidate must have GCSEs in Maths and English or equivalent. All applicants will need excellent interpersonal skills, to be proactive and forward thinking.

All posts are subject to pre employment checks, references will be sought and successful candidates will need to undertake an enhanced CRB check.

A CV and letter of application with full details of experience should be sent to Mrs. C. M. Gillen, Headteacher at the school.

Closing date for applications is Monday 23rd February 2009.

FEBRUARY IS NATIONAL HEART MONTH. ARE YOU READY TO SHOW YOUR HEART?

WHY GO RED FOR HEART?
- 89 mothers and 99 fathers die every day from coronary heart disease
- Every six minutes someone dies from a heart attack in the UK
- Every year, around 200,000 people lose their lives to heart and circulatory disease
- 2.5 million people in the UK are living with coronary heart disease

British Heart Foundation Launches Red for Heart

The British Heart Foundation (BHF) launches its new Red for Heart campaign for National Heart Month this February and is asking people to raise vital funds to help fight the UK's biggest killer - heart and circulatory disease.

What ways can you support Red for Heart?

Hold a Red for Heart fundraiser. Do something crazy, formal, racy or just plain fun. You can hold a red fancy dress party, a fit-as-many-people-into-a-red-telephone-box stunt, a sponsored bungee jump in top-to-toe red, a red bake sale... as long as it is red anything goes! Order your free Red for Heart Fundraising Kit today - visit bhf.org.uk/red or call 0845 2410976

· Wear your heart on your sleeve this February with the Red for Heart pin badge. Available from all BHF Shops; Argos; Homebase and Lloyds TSB branches for a suggested donation of £1.

· Want to tell a special someone how you feel about them…? Visit your local BHF Shop and for a suggested donation of £1 write a Love Note that will be proudly displayed in the shop window.

Jackie Skeel, Head of National Campaigns at the British Heart Foundation, said: "We are very excited about our new fundraising campaign Red for Heart for National Heart Month this February, and we are avidly anticipating seeing the UK turn red for their loved ones, showing support and raising vital funds. People's generosity in going red will help save lives and fight the UK's biggest killer."

To donate you can post a cheque to the British Heart Foundation, Greater London House, 180 Hampstead Road, London NW1 7AW.

British Heart Foundation is a registered Charity No. 225971

A BRUSH WITH MARRIAGE

Two brooms lived in the closet under the stair,
They decided to marry and become a pair.
The bride broom looked beautiful in her white dress.
The groom broom was smart but his bristles were a mess.
After the wedding the bride gave the groom a shock.
"I think I'm going to have a baby broom," his confidence took a knock.
"Impossible said the groom,we haven't even swept together yet!"
"Sounds to me as if you've been sweeping around before we met!"
The marriage didn't last very long,
And he gave her the brush on their honeymoon in Hong Kong.
